First Knowledges Innovation: Knowledge and Ingenuity

Ian J McNiven and Lynette Russell

First Nations Australians are some of the oldest innovators in the world. Original developments in social and religious activities, trading strategies, technology and land management are underpinned by philosophies that strengthen sustainability of Country and continue to be utilised today. Innovation: Knowledge and Ingenuity reveals novel and creative practices such as: body shaping; cremation; sea hunting with the help of suckerfish; building artificial reefs for oyster farms; economic responses to colonisation; and a Voice to Parliament. In the seventh book of the First Knowledges series, Ian J McNiven and Lynette Russell showcase this legacy of First Nations peoples and how they offer resourceful ways of dealing with contemporary challenges that can benefit us all. With endorsements by Larissa Behrendt and Richard Flanagan, Innovation is co-published with the National Museum of Australia.

First Knowledges box set

The First Knowledges series offers an introduction to Indigenous knowledges and their application to the present and the future. Here are the first six books in a box set. Exploring practices such as Songlines, architecture and design, land management, astronomy, botany and law, this series brings together two very different ways of understanding the natural world: one ancient, the other modern. Each book is a collaboration between Indigenous and non-Indigenous writers and editors. The series is published in partnership with the NMA and edited by Margo Neale, senior Indigenous curator at the Museum.

- 65,000 copies have been sold across the series and listed for multiple awards.
- Future titles include: Medicine, Seasons, Ceremony, and Politics. Childrens' books based on the series are currently in development with the first, Songlines to be published in October 2023.
- Available October to coincide with the publication of Innovation.

Vincent Namatjira Vincent Namatjira

'Welcome to the past, present and future. I stand side-by-side with my great-grandfather, who I never met - two painters from the centre of this country, standing up and making our voices heard. I believe in the power of art, the power of the paintbrush. I know that art can change lives. It changed mine and I hope that art can change the world too.'

- This book accompanies Vincent's first major survey exhibition at the Art Gallery of South Australia in October as part of Tarnathi Festival. The exhibition will also show at National Gallery in Canberra in 2024.
- This is the first major publication on and by Vincent Namatjira.
- Includes text written by Vincent Namatjira as well as essays providing further insight into his story and practice.
- Features artworks by Albert Namatjira.

Vincent Namatjira is an astute observer of life, of power, of popular culture. To be in the presence of a Vincent Namatjira painting is like being on the edge of a portal into another world. In this monograph, Vincent takes us on a journey through his artwork, contextualising his iconic series on Indigenous soldiers, Indigenous leaders, power and the Royal Family, giving us an insight into his world view. The book includes essays by Lisa Slade, Nici Cumpston and Gloria Strzelecki from AGSA, by Bruce Johnson McLean from NGA and by Vincent's great friends and artistic collaborators Ben Quilty and Tony Albert but, most importantly, it is Vincent's voice as much as his artwork that resonates in high definition on the page.

The New Modernist House

Mid-Century Homes Renewed for Contemporary Living

The New Modernist House Mid-century homes renewed for contemporary living Patricia Callan

The intuitive design, sun-lit spaces and tranquil vibe of Modernist houses still have an enduring appeal today. But can these homes be updated for contemporary living while maintaining the integrity of the original architecture? This colourful volume is both a useful resource for those embarking on their own renovation journey, and a sourcebook of inspiration for delighting in moments of nostalgia.

- The author is the founder of modernistaustralia.com - with 40k followers on Instagram, it is Australia's most popular modernist archive.
- Written from an enthusiast layperson's perspective to really engage the reader.
- There is a useful section on what to consider when renovating a mid-century modern home.
- Includes an illustrated contextual timeline.

The New Modernist House presents twenty-one mid-century homes restored and renewed for future generations to enjoy. Designs by some of the period's heavyweights - including Anatol Kagan, Alistair Knox and Ernest Fooks - have been sensitively updated by today's creative innovators. Alongside stories of the passionate homeowners, architects and collaborators who have given these homes new life, a historical overview and section on practical considerations inform those drawn to a Modernist dream house.

Gohan: Everyday Japanese Cooking Memories and stories from my family's kitchen Emiko Davies

Emiko Davies is a award winning author and while she has written extensively about regional Italian cuisine, this is her most personal book yet and her first about the Japanese food of her childhood. The everyday meals, cooked in the homes of Japanese mothers and grandmothers, is the food that Emiko grew up with. They're the dishes she makes for her own children: simple, satisfying food like tamagonogohan (stir fried egg and rice), soba noodle soup, Japanese curry, yakisoba, and miso soup, prepared with whatever seasonal vegetables happen to be around. Unlike what many people think, Japanese home cooking is not fiddly, nor time consuming. It's quick and remarkably simple, thanks to the Japanese philosophy that fresh, seasonal food doesn't need much to enhance its natural flavor.

Karl Lagerfeld: A Life in Houses

Patrick Mauriès, Marie Kalt

The first publication dedicated to Karl Lagerfeld's glamorous homes, known for their eclectic interiors, ranging from the Art Deco to the ultramodern. While Karl Lagerfeld was famous for being at the very centre of the fashion industry for over half a century, he was equally opinionated when it came to interiors, which acted as a private creative outlet alongside his fashion designs. Following an introduction by Patrick Mauriès, each house is introduced by a short text by Marie Kalt unveiling Lagerfeld's homes' history and identifying key designers and pieces. From the elegant Art-Deco inspired apartment in Saint-Sulpice, Paris, to the incredibly ornate 18th-century mansion, Hôtel Pozzo di Borgo (his muse and collaborator Amanda Harlech described Lagerfeld as having 'a Versailles complex') - Lagerfeld's houses reveal he was a collector of a Renaissance scale, and showed spectacular range in his decorating styles.

sis: Pacific Art 1980-2023 honours and celebrates the work and stories of women artists from across the Pacific, as told through the QAGOMA Collection. At a time when many art museums are dedicated to redressing their under-representation of women artists, sis: Pacific Art 1980-2023 speaks to the decades-long partnerships QAGOMA has developed with women artists in the region, and to the Collection-building focus and commissioning of important new work over ten iterations of the Gallery's Asia Pacific Triennial. Rich in imagery of process and context, this volume includes original photography from QAGOMA's curatorial team's extensive travel throughout the Pacific. With over 120 illustrations, this book is a beautiful and inspiring publication, and a significant resource on contemporary Pacific culture.

Seth: On Walls

ABRAMS

For street artist Seth, walls around the world have been canvases for resilience, a space where imagination and real-life encounters become murals of expression, dialogue, and community. Seth: On Walls is an insightful, visual exploration of a decade of his travels and the paintings he created in locations such as the working-class districts of Phnom Penh, Cambodia, and the war-torn Donbas region of Ukraine. Drawing inspiration from local myths, legends, and tales, and often collaborating with other artists, Seth works within the social, political, and cultural contexts of the places he visits. Seth: On Walls is a delicate illustration of the beauty and shadows of the world we live in.

ART

Forms of Life: Hilma af Klint & Mondrian

Frances Morris, Briyony Fer

For the first time, the complex, symbiotic ecologies that sustained the practices of two of the twentieth-century's greatest painters are revealed. With a shared rootedness in the natural world and its wondrous life forms, the work of af Klint and Mondrian celebrates the numinous spiritual power of nature and how this gives both art and life meaning. Including works never before seen in the UK, this publication will elucidate and invigorate our understanding of two ground-breaking artists and will be sure to get synapses firing.

Poster Child: The Psychedelic Art & Technicolor Life of David Edward Byrd

Robert von Goeben, David Byrd

Poster Child chronicles the life and art of David Edward Byrd, one of the foremost graphic artists of twentieth-century culture. Told in a deeply personal and honest conversation with author Robert von Goeben, Byrd shares his journey through sixty years of rock 'n' roll, theater, and movie artistry. Pioneering iconic visual styles that now define rock music, Byrd created posters for concerts and album art for legends such as the Who, Lou Reed, Janis Joplin, Jefferson Airplane, Ravi Shankar, Traffic, Van Halen, the Grateful Dead, Kiss, and Jimi Hendrix. With brutal honesty and vulnerability, this stunning retrospective shares the artist's journey through family trauma, excess, career detours, rehab, and, ultimately, love, success, and recognition.

In 1950s New York, before he became one of the most famous names of the 20th century, Andy Warhol was already a skilled and successful commercial artist. During this time, as part of his strategy to woo clients and forge friendships, he created seven handmade artist's books, reserved to his most valued contacts. These featured personal, unique drawings and quirky texts revealing his fondness for-among other subjects-cats, food, myths, shoes and beautiful people. Decades later, with originals now changing hands for thousands of dollars at auction, TASCHEN presents an XL-sized volume containing meticulous reprints of these seven books.

Anthony Amies: Breaking Waves

anthony Amies's paintings assert a classical conception of painting. From the mid 1970s, the British artist pursued a radical counter-concept to the art of his time with a stylistically peculiar landscape painting. They are calm and enigmatic pictures that do without any scandal. The reduction to land and sea is a reflection on England and the loss of its individual landscapes to the monotony of industrial and urban proliferation and housing estates. In this idiosyncrasy - the assertion of the genre of landscape painting and in the painterly quality of the works as a contribution to the assertion of painting in art - lies the importance of this English painter.

Basquiat: The Modena Paintings

Numerous publications and exhibitions have examined Jean-Michel Basquiat's extensive oeuvre that consists of more than 3000 works, this catalogue though focuses on eight paintings only: In the summer of 1982, Basquiat traveled to Modena, Italy, for one of his first solo exhibitions in Europe at the gallery of Emilio Mazzoli. Within just a few days, he painted a group of large-format paintings that surpassed his previous work as well as reflecting an artist coming into his own. The paintings have never been shown together. This catalogue revisits this crucial moment of Basquiat's career some 40 years ago and reunites them for the first time.

Art

Life is More Important Than Art is a summer-long, multidisciplinary programme of exhibitions, installations, participatory projects and live events. It explores the intersection of art and everyday life and the role of the contemporary art institution at a time of uncertainty and change. Representative of, and animated by, the distinctive and radical history of Whitechapel Gallery, Life is More Important Than Art points to the critical role that art can play in both reflecting lived experience and opening up new possibilities for thinking, feeling and dreaming.

Two volume set including The Day May Break and The Day May Break - Chapter Two at a Special Price. Some of Nick Brandt's subjects are humans, some are animals, but they all are creatures of equal and obvious personhood. Victims of habitat destruction and wildlife trafficking, the animals are rescues that can never be released to the wild. People and animals were photographed in the same frame and indeed convey a sense of connectedness through a shared fate. But in spite of their loss, these people and animals are survivors, pioneers entering the new phase our world has reached. In The Day May Break they share their powerful stories.

Peter Halley: Conduits: Paintings from the 1980s

In 1980 Peter Halley painted his first "prisons," re-deploying the language of geometric abstraction in response to physical and bureaucratic environments. Radically deconstructing the language of abstraction, he re-imagined it not as a utopian source of liberation, but as a dystopian symbol of the regulation of physical and social space. Set within the context of a prolific period of painting and critical writing in the 1980s, this catalogue traces the development of Halley's singular pictorial vocabulary.

Preben Holst: The Stranger

Over eighty images from the series by the Norwegian photographer. The book presents The Stranger, a photographic series that spans over nearly two decades. It began when the photographer Preben Holst decided to approach a stranger in a park and asked if he could do a portrait of him. Fascinated by the strength and immediacy of the resulting images, he continued to make portraits of strangers in cities such as Copenhagen, London, and Oslo, where he now lives. The young men captured by Holst's analogue camera become testimonies of the subtle and gradual changes that urban masculine identity has undergone since the turn of the millennium.

The Animal Factory

Art faber is an umbrella term for works of art - whether pictorial, literary, photographic, musical or cinematographic - whose main or secondary themes are work, business and the world of economics. This first issue of the Cahiers de l'Art faber tackles the field of photography through the "Bestiaux" portrait series begun by the artist Yann Arthus-Bertrand thirty years ago. In the series, the artist looks at the privileged relationship between breeder and livestock, inviting us to reflect upon the economic vocation of their animals, and on the system in which animals are produced, used and consumed.

The Collection of Maximilian von Goldschmidt-Rothschild

This publication is the first to devote itself in detail to the biography of the Frankfurt banker and philanthropist Maximilian von Goldschmidt-Rothschild (1843-1940). By tracing the history of his famous art collection, it examines the loss of the collection due to the persecution of its owner and its appropriation by the City of Frankfurt during the National Socialist regime. The publication not only provides the latest research findings on the provenance of 129 objects from the original collection, but it is also the first to contain a comprehensive selection of the large number of contemporary photographs depicting most of the 1,500 items in the collection. EARLY RELEASE

ABRAMS

Considered a lucky charm or material for jewelry and works of art, red coral has mesmerized humankind since antiquity. But who are the people behind these precious objects? A young narrator and her grandmother embark on a journey to meet the passionate experts of red coral. She interviews a historian, diver, biologist, taxonomist, coral hunter, and many other specialists who answer her questions, with the hope of turning readers into ambassadors and protectors of the mysterious treasure. Blending science, history, and culture through investigation, interview, and illustrations, The Mystery of the Red Coral is as gorgeous and surprising as red coral itself.

This Is Our City

Tony Massarotti

According to Tony Massarotti, longtime Boston sports columnist and host of the #1 sports radio show in New England for the past ten years, this is not a coincidence. Massarotti's This Is Our City paints a portrait of the last 20 years in Boston sports, showing how one team's success has led to the next-how they have fed off each other, tried to one-up one another, and have supported each other. This is an account of an era where successes and failures stitched together the region, all playing out against major events such as 9/11 and the devastating Boston Marathon. NOW IN PAPERBACK

Tracings

Daniel Schwartz, Beat Wismer

The first longterm appraisal of the photography of Daniel Schwartz. Positioning Schwartz's work to date in the wider history of the medium, Tracings draws together themes tackled in five monographs concerned with cultural history, political geography and the environment published by Thames & Hudson between 1986 and 2017. Essays by Beat Wismer, Giovanna Calvenzi and Carolin Emcke examine the ways Schwartz's documentary photography intersects with the arts; look at photographic affinities and methods in Schwartz's work, analysing the narrative of his previous books; and study Schwartz's depiction of the individual at work, and how photographs of human activities are interwoven with photographs of nature.

NOVEMBER 2023 NEW KIDS' RELEASES

Nightbane
(The Lightlark Saga Book 2)Alex Aster*

The seductive and action-packed follow-up to Alex Aster's instant #1 New York Times, #1 Wall Street Journal, and internationally bestselling novel, Lightlark.

- Lightlark was preempted in a major deal by Universal and Temple Hill, the production studio behind the successful movie adaptations of the Twilight Saga, Maze Runner, and The Hate U Give
- Lightlark was an instant #1 New York Times bestseller and has remained on the list since its debut
- #Lightlark has 70 million views on TikTok, and Aster herself has more than one million TikTok followers and nearly 100,000 Instagram followers.
- Aster was recently named a Forbes Top 30 Under 30.

Alex Aster is an author of YA fiction as well as award-winning middle grade fiction, including the Emblem Island series, which was published to critical acclaim. Alex graduated summa cum laude from the University of Pennsylvania, where she studied creative writing.

Isla Crown has secured the love of two powerful rulers and broken the curses that plagued the six realms for centuries, but few know the true origins of her powers. Now, in the wake of a crushing betrayal, Isla finds herself hungry for distraction, preferring to frequent Lightlark's seductive haunts instead of embracing her duties as the newly crowned leader of two separate realms. Worse, her fellow rulers haven't ceded victory quietly, and there are others in Isla's midst who don't believe her ascent to power was earned. As certain death races toward Lightlark and secrets from the past begin to unravel, Isla must weigh her responsibility to her people against the whims of the most dangerous traitor of all: her heart.

Alex Aster's intricate world expands after the riveting culmination of the Centennial games, delving more deeply into Isla's memories of her past, as her future hurtles toward two possible fates.
