

JULY 2025 NEW RELEASES

INTRODUCING ROLI BOOKS

Leading publishers in art and illustrated books in India and new distribution partners to Thames & Hudson.

India Local Classic Street Food Recipes Sonal Ved

India Local is a cross-country culinary adventure complemented by mouth-watering photographs - an invaluable source for chefs and home cooks who wish to recreate the flavours Indian streets in their own kitchens.

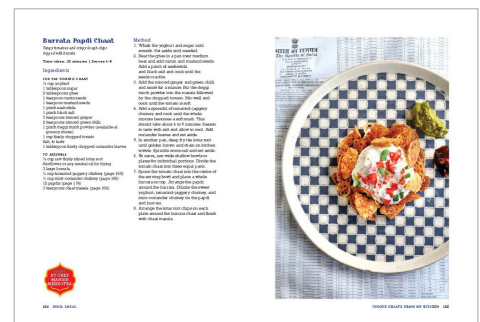

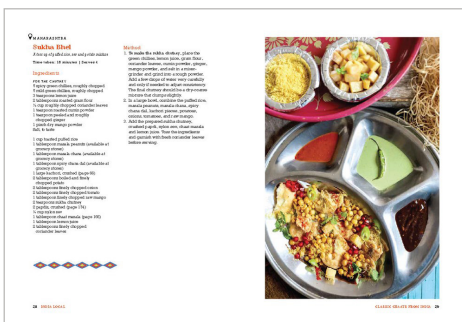

Texture, colour, flavour - the essence of India itself, intertwine and explode in this stunning cookbook. Celebrating the patent versatility and abundance of Indian cuisine, India Local focuses on India's street foods and chaats. It tells the story of a nation through its street offerings, from the bustling lanes of old Delhi and the alleys of Lucknow to the swarming bylanes of Mumbai and Ahmedabad. Ved's glamorous yet approachable recipes meet Karam Puri's street-style photography in this accessible cookbook. Pick from usuals like pani puri and vada pav, to special snacks by India's most innovative minds: tawa paneer chat and jinni dosa. Want to eat like a local? This book is for you.

Delhi 360° | Shahjahanabad
Jerry Losty, Swapna Liddle

Made in 1846, the painting commonly known as 'The Delhi Panorama' by the famous topographical artist Mazhar Ali Khan is the finest artistic rendering of Shahjahanabad ever made. It also affords a unique glimpse into the heart of the imperial palace in the Red Fort before much of it was destroyed after the 1857 Uprising. The 360° view of Delhi along with its extraordinary detailing of the cityscape makes the panorama not just an important historical document but also the masterpiece of its artist. Its publication here is accompanied by essays that put the panorama in its historical and artistic context with a commentary on the inscriptions that brings it to life.

Mughal Glass
Tara Desjardins

The history of Mughal glass has been predominantly neglected, leading scholars to speculate as to whether these spectacular specimens are European imports but decorated in India, or of entirely Indian manufacture. Mughal Glass: A History of Glassmaking in India delves into these questions while also exploring the development of new glass recipes, the Mughal emperors' penchant for luxury goods, and the influence of colonial consumption in India. With a comprehensive catalogue of Mughal glass objects gathered from both public and private collections around the world, this book stands as a definitive work, offering an authentic account that sheds light on a long-neglected aspect of Indian history.

GRAPHIC NOVEL

Kusama
Simon Elliott

From her days in 1960s New York as a proponent of free love and peace to her current position as internationally recognised Queen of Polka Dots and creator of infinity, Yayoi Kusama's life is an extraordinary story of triumph over struggle through art.

This graphic novel vividly portrays Kusama's unusual youth and family troubles, her discovery of a new style of painting, her struggles with mental illness, and her rise to international art stardom.

For those seeking an introduction to this incredible artist or searching for a fresh take on her story – this is Yayoi Kusama's life as you've never seen it before.

The Art of Dying

Peter Schjeldahl

When the New Yorker art critic Peter Schjeldahl published The Art of Dying in December 2019, he reported that he had lung cancer and six months left to live, but his treatment was showing some improvement. "These extra months," he wrote, "are a luxury that I hope to have put to good use." And he did. The Art of Dying: Writings, 2019-2022 begins with that essay and collects all 46 pieces that he wrote for the magazine before his death in October 2022.

Dalí In 400 Images
William Jeffett

Dalí in 400 Images explores the full range of one of the most significant Surrealist painters of the 20th century. The exhaustive selection of works will reveal key masterpieces as well as less familiar works including drawings and objects. Spanning the entire scope of the artist's career, this volume shows the complexity of the artist's vision from the early works inspired by Post-Impressionism and Cubism to his re-engagement with avant-garde experimentation in the 1960s and beyond. The 400 reproductions of Dalí's work are complemented by a unique selection of historical photographs.

Surrealism Through Its Journals
Franca Franchi

Art historian Rosalind Krauss once defined Surrealist journals as “the true Surrealist object.” These periodicals are works of art in themselves, ones that challenge conventions and disciplinary boundaries by mixing languages and forms of expression. Published to follow the centenary of the publication of the first Manifeste du Surréalisme in October 1924, Surrealism Through Its Journals reassembles the movement's rise and fall through its formative publications.

Building Berlin, Vol. 14
Architektenkammer

New architectural impulses: recent buildings in the German capital by local architects as well as international projects by Berlin-based architects, accompanied by essays on topics currently being discussed in the world of architecture. Selected projects that demonstrate the enormous diversity of today's building culture; from a repurposed asphalt square to a stylish penthouse, from a community café to an eco-living quarter, and from a cleverly revitalized listed building to a new research center. If there is one common denominator, it is this: Berlin cultivates a building culture of “we”.

New Tiny Houses
Sibylle Kramer

This volume presents remarkable examples of masterfully implemented solutions for tiny houses. The designs of these micro-wonders show that even - or especially - well thought-out room concepts can be realized in the smallest of spaces, without sacrificing excellent design. Intelligent floor plans, multifunctional rooms and ingenious nesting of furnishing components create not only compact living spaces, but also unique habitats.

Green Building Envelopes
Sibylle Kramer

This book is intended to awaken an appetite for green architecture; a catalogue of successful project examples shows in detail how the design and practical implementation of greened building exteriors can succeed around the globe. The focus of this book is on the diverse ways in which organic materials are used in construction today and how they can function as independent planning elements and design factors also in combination with new and innovative building technologies.

Design Unlimited
Patrik Hubner, Larissa Lenze

A design approach to help brands, agencies and cultural institutions to set themselves apart by fusing storytelling and communication design with creative algorithms, data, human interaction and programming. Today's creative professionals have more opportunities for expression than ever before - at the same time, the world is becoming increasingly difficult to depict as it is becoming more and more complex and nuanced. What the industry is missing is not (more) technology and data, but a new way of thinking. Design Unlimited presents an explorative way of thinking and designing that creates dynamic identities and meaningful connections between people and brands.

JULY 2025 KIDS' NEW RELEASES

Tiwi in Paris

Glen Farmer Illortaminni

What happens when an artist from the remote Tiwi Islands gets lost in one of the world's biggest cities?

When Glen travels from his remote Tiwi Island home all the way to Paris, his trip takes an unexpected turn when he gets lost on his first night there. What follows is an epic journey through famous French landmarks and into the homes of kind strangers, telling an incredible story of resilience, humour and home.

- A one-of-a-kind story based on Glen's experience in Paris.
- Aligns with national curriculum topics and subsequently a great resource in classroom settings.
- A unique story with artwork that embraces Tiwi Islander storytelling and style.
- Glen is an accomplished artist with works in the National Gallery of Victoria and the National Gallery of Australia.

My name is Glen Farmer Illortaminni and I'm telling my story. Once I went to Paris as an interpreter for the old fella, the famous artist named Timothy Cook. It was October ...
